FITTING GUIDE

BLACK QUICKFIT SILICONE STRAP

Soft silicone strap, black, with QuickFit connectors: it clips onto the watch without tools and comes off in one movement. Three widths, 20, 22 and 26 mm, for the Garmin and Coros watches listed below. Choosing the width, fitting, care.

REF. BR4 · QUICKFIT 20, 22 OR 26 MM · BLACK SILICONE, PIN BUCKLE

Before you start

The strap width must match the watch: it is engraved on the back of the original strap, near the connector, or measured between the lugs. Check your model in the table opposite.

Fitting the strap

1. Remove the old strap by pulling the connector latch outwards, away from the case, then lifting the strap off the bar. Same on the other side.
2. Line up the new strap the same way round as the old one: short buckle end on one side, long holed end on the other, smooth face to the skin.
3. Clip the connector onto the bar, squarely, until it clicks. No click: check the width, never force it.
4. Pull on each end firmly. It must hold without play; if not, unclip and start again.
5. Buckle up with the pin in the hole that lets a finger slip under the strap, then tuck the end under the two keepers.

Caring for silicone

- Rinse in clean water after sweat, sea or pool, then dry: salt and chlorine dull and stiffen silicone.
- Mild soap only. No alcohol, no solvent, no cream applied directly to the strap.
- Loosen by one hole for sport: a strap worn too tight marks the skin and wears faster at the keepers.

GOOD TO KNOW

- A connector that will not go on is not the right width: insisting damages the watch's bar.
- Lost or split keeper: our silicone keeper loops come in pairs, in the width of the strap.
